

Dear Rising 7th grader,

Congratulations. You have completed three years of a four year Latin grammar program. After Fourth Form there will be no new conjugations or declensions to learn!

You have learned about 675 words in the last three years, in addition to declensions and conjugations. The challenge with Latin is that you must remember everything you learned over these three years and also be ready to learn more next year. Unlike most subjects, Latin is cumulative. Everything must be remembered, nothing can be forgotten

Success in a cumulative subject, like Latin or math, requires constant review. Most students forget quite a bit over the summer, so it is important to review with your flashcards this summer.

Summer is also a great time to master what you may have only partially learned during the school year. You can work on putting your Latin knowledge, which may be a little shaky, into your permanent memory. It will make your Latin study so much more pleasant to have complete mastery over vocabulary and grammar when you begin your last year of the Form Series this fall. You will be given an ungraded assessment the first day of school to see if all your Latin knowledge is fresh in your mind.

On the back is a suggested schedule for flashcard review. If you have lost your First, Second, or Third Form flashcards you can purchase additional sets at school.

Have a great summer, read some good books, and see you in the fall.

HLS Administration

How to review with flashcards in three steps:

When reviewing with flashcards, say the Latin word and its meaning aloud. You should say the nominative and genitive for nouns, and all four principal parts for verbs. For example, for town say oppidum, oppidi, neuter; for carry say, 1st conjugation, porto, portare, portavi, portatus.

1. Go through a set of flashcards from Latin to English (L > E) and divide into two stacks, those you know and those you don't. Set aside the ones you know and work on those you don't until you have moved them all to the know stack.
2. Go through the same set of cards from English to Latin. (E > L)
3. Go through the cards again from English to Latin, either spelling aloud or writing down the Latin, in addition to saying it aloud. You don't really know a Latin word until you can spell it correctly, including principal parts for verbs and genitive forms for nouns.

Reviewing Grammar Forms:

You may drill with the individual cards or use the charts in the appendix of your textbook. Be sure you know the meanings as well as the Latin forms.

Reviewing Latin Sayings:

Latin sayings teach classical and Christian culture as well as vocabulary, grammar and syntax. You may drill with the individual cards or the lists found in the Appendix. Though not as important as vocabulary and grammar forms, reviewing Latin sayings is strongly recommended.

Fifteen minutes per day is a good amount to plan for, but more time may be necessary if you find your recall needs a lot of brushing up. Please put a check for each day you review the recommended time. If you drill more than 15 minutes, write in the time.
